RISECCOLI WINES AT THE 2011 ANTEPRIMA DEL CHIANTI CLASSICO TASTING IN FLORENCE

(14 February 2011)

The most recent vintages from the range of wines from the Tenuta RISECCOLI estate will be featured as a part of the "Chianti Classico Collection 2011" at the annual Anteprema del Chianti Classico taking place February 15-16th at the Stazione Leopoldo in Florence. Organized by the Gallo Nero (or Chianti Classico Consortium), this 2011 press and trade event is the preview tasting of the most recent vintages available from more than 130 Chianti Classico producers.

The first day of the event is dedicated exclusively to wine journalists and this year over 200 international wine writers are expected to attend from a combination of 29 European and non-European countries. Day two will be focused on presenting the latest vintages from the Chianti Classico and some IGT wines from the Chianti Classico territory.

One big change for the 2011 event is the organization of the wineries by community as opposed to alphabetical order, providing attendees with the opportunity to better appreciate the differences between the production zones within the Chianti Classico.

Attendance is invite only for the press. The trade can sign up for the event online at www.chianti-classicollection.it. Please contact info@riseccoli.com if you would like to make an appointment with us ahead of time.
